

About support within the IMSUT Joint Medical Science Research Center for scientists hit by the 2011 Tohoku Earthquake

April 4, 2011

Allow me to express on behalf of all members of our institute our heartfelt concern for everybody hit by the 2011 Tohoku Earthquake and particularly for the families of the dead and missing.

We are currently investigating how IMSUT, through its Joint Medical Science Research Center, can support scientists of research institutions hit by the 2011 Tohoku Earthquake. Details will be posted on this website as soon as preparations allow.

It is our hope that this measure may be useful, even if only in a small way, for scientists trying to resume their research.
